Dos Rios Partners Announces Investment in FlexXray

DALLAS, TEXAS – Dos Rios Partners, a Texas-based private-equity firm, has partnered with Barton Creek Equity Partners ("Barton Creek") to invest in FlexXray LLC ("Company"), an x-ray inspection service provider that detects foreign-body contaminants primarily in food related products. The Company operates an FDA/USDA-certified facility in Arlington, TX. Manufacturers engage the Company to inspect products and identify physical contaminants or defective packaging. As a result, manufacturers can significantly reduce waste by utilizing FlexXray's services. Several of the Company's current customer relationships extend more than a decade.

According to Dos Rios Partner Jay Turner, "the Company has also demonstrated the ability to add and service new customers well. Given its strong relationships, reputation, and reliability, the Company is well positioned for growth."

"We feel privileged to invest in FlexXray alongside our friends and partners at Barton Creek and with the Company's talented Chief Executive Officer," said Jay Turner. "FlexXray has built a strong reputation in the market place. We look forward to investing in the Company and to supporting its efforts to enhance its service levels and team capabilities."
